U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

I am one of the millions who travel to Alaska for fishing and the wild nature it provide us. Allowing this to be destroyed is not only reprehensible, it will be a scar on the face of the last great frontier in the United States. Please leave this great areas as it is. Dr. Andrew Sacco, NY State.

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Chugach and Tongass National Forest and in supporting their associated fish and wildlife-based industries for more than 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77, by selecting the 'no action' alternative. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Andrew Sacco
