U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

Please do not allow for logging and development of roads in the "Roadless" area of Alaska. We need to maintain wilderness and do not need to continue to destroy the last remaining wild areas of the world[hellip]particularly Alaska. I do not understand why we continue to threaten the Alaska wilderness, first Pebble Mine, now the Tongass. When do we wake up a realize that we are destroying our planet for future generations.

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Tongass National Forest and in supporting its fish and wildlife-based industries for almost 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Daniel Kaczmarek
