U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

We are losing these places rapidly and we all know that once lost they will not be replaced. Logging this area would be shortsighted. Recreation will provide the economic stimulus, these places are of immense value. Consider the heritage and legacy you will leave your own children when deciding the fate of an enormous piece of priceless wilderness

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Tongass National Forest and in supporting its fish and wildlife-based industries for almost 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Clay Livingston
