Comments: To Those entrusted to maintain the quality of life in our forests,

Please do not carry out the broad program presently suggested for "management" of our forests.

Our precious forests provide not only oxygen and clean air for us to breathe, they provide places of solace for our souls and life and livelihood for millions of species. Why not have Georgia stand out as an example of life preserving, life quality management!? Too many of Earth's resources for clean good air are under attack from fire and cutting.

In particular DO NOT USE HERBICIDES to devastate the rich array of wildflowers and plants in our forests! We live in one of the most botanically rich areas on earth. Please keep it that way.

Deer and all wildlife depend upon these plants for survival. We depend upon our forests and the many gifts they provide for our quality of life and sustainable living.
