Comments: The health and preservation of our national forests is extremely important. They are a national treasure and public commons to be handed down to future generations. With this in mind, it is extremely important that they are cared for wisely.

Please spray as minimally as possible. There are so many microscopic creatures and fungi that are virtually unknown but play a vital role in our forest ecology. Widespread spraying of toxins jeopardizes the natural forest biology.

Please keep logging to minimum. Forests sequester carbon and improve air quality.

Please keep the public informed and in the loop.

Thank you for helping to protect our beautiful Chattahoochee National Forest.

Sincerely,

Susan Edgett
