Comments: I could hardly believe the news article that parts of the Chattahoochee National Forest could be cut, burned, and ravaged by bulldozers. What are you thinking? There is no justification for disturbing this ecosystem that so many people enjoy in its natural state. Please reconsider. We Georgians and visitors to the area do not want to see this done to our land. The movie "Deliverance" was filmed in this same general area. The characters referred to the "rape of the land". Well, it's about to happen before our eyes with the National Park Service in the starring role as rapist. At the end of the day, you will have no peace of mind as you go home from your work after destroying an area so loved by all.
