Comments: Please listen when we urge you to give the public site specific information before making a decision.

Adjacent land owners should be able to tell if the Forest Service is planning to spray herbicide in their backyard. We are beekeepers and there are many of us in these areas. Your herbicides will kill the bees, and so much more

Mountain bike riders should be able to tell if you are planning to burn along their favorite trail.

Trout fishermen should be able to tell if you are planning to log around their favorite stream.

Erosion will be so detrimental. Please you must plan carefully and study the effects of each specific action you plan to take!
