Comments: South Appalachia is one of the most biodiverse areas in the world. Significant degradation of this area harms us all by potentially irreversibly damaging this precious ecosystem and its many unique species. I will be personally negatively effected by any alteration to the AT & BMT (popular trails), Jack's River/Hemp-Top, Rabun Bald, and Duncan Ridge areas. We have so little protected forest/ wildlife habitat left in this world. Extinctions are at an unacceptable level due to habitat loss. Destroying the little that remains for short-term gains is greedy and irresponsible. This South Appalacian resident will fight to protect this irreplaceable land.
