Title: President

Comments: You do not own this land. We, the people, on this land, own this land. There is a large group of us that do not in anyway support what you are doing and we want the opportunity to be heard. You are a servant of the public, and given the responsibility of the public's trust. If you and your organization will not hear us, you will be replaced and we will remove you. The national forest reservice has so far been poor stewards. Let us be heard, we will be heard either way.
