Comments: Though I now live in Colorado I am originally from Monroe GA and I spend more time in the Chattahoochee National Forest when I am back in GA visiting family than ANY other National Forest. It is truly a special place. Not only am I saddened to hear that logging is proposed in this amazing national forest, but to learn that the public input in management might be compromised is devastating. The public always deserves a seat at the table in managing OUR national forests. The opportunities for public input(required by federal law)will have long since passed by the time we find out which areas are to be logged, burned, bulldozed and poisoned with herbicides. Public lands are owned and shared by ALL of us. Please do the right thing!
