Comments: Please reconsider this regarding Black Footed Ferrets. These endangered animals were pushed to the absolute brink of absolute extinction by the wiping out of 98% of the great plains and it's food source, the prairie dog. I feel we owe it to these animals and future generations to help them thrive and give them back a small piece of what was once theirs. The Black Footed Ferret is a National Treasure in my opinion, and it's a miracle they survived mankind's impact, please do what's right for these special creatures. Thank You.
