Comments: It will be an outrage if this project is allowed to move forward in its present form with no public input on specific projects. The Forest Service is trying to manipulate its way around meaningful public input so it can manage the National Forest like it belonged to them and the special interest groups who would benefit from this. We, the citizens, are the owners of this forest and have a right to a meaningful say about what happens to it. We will not stand for a takeover by special interests.
