Comments: Sadly the intentional elimination of prairie dogs will also affect the survival of the already- threatened species, namely the Black-Footed Ferret, the only indigenous ferret to the U.S., whose only food source is Prairie Dogs.

In recent years, the populous of Black Footed Ferrets has dwindled at an almost staggering rate and any attempts to repopulate have seen Prairie Dogs poisoned, therefore poisoning these wonderful Ferrets. Black Footed Ferrets are obligate carnivores. Please, for the sake of all Black Footed Ferrets, do not allow this to happen. We have already destroyed to many species of animals across this great country of ours, let's not do anymore harm to our ecosystem.
