Comments: We must stop this at all costs. America is all but devoid of mature forests as it is. I have seen recreation facilities such as hiking and biking trails completely obliterated by timber management. Miles of trails have been erased in Alabama just so the New Jersey paper companies can have more loblolly pulp. This phenomenon takes a biologically diverse ecosystem and turns it into a monoculture. Timber management equals environmental destruction. Fight it at all costs. Don't let them destroy the environment....follow the money, because someone stands to get rich from this, and they so not care what suffers in the process.
