Comments: To Whom It May Concern:

I oppose the current proposal to approve a large "bucket" of changes with the promise to figure out the details later. Frankly, I don't trust the current Forest Service to assess the positive and negative "value" of proposed actions after the fact and only on-going public input will mitigate against adverse decisions.

Each project in the future portfolio should be able to gain approval on it's merit and the proposal to simply "pre-approve" these projects is too risky.
