Comments: Please do not open this National Grasslands to prairie dog shooting and poisoning. Please maintain this site as a black footed ferret reintroduction site. BFFs are America's greatest conservation story, and deeply linked to Wyoming history. While I do wholeheartedly support the cattle industry, I do not support it at the expense of an endangered species or for the sake of poisoning any species. This purposed change will have a devastating and far reaching effect on the entire ecosystem. There must be another way to reduce PD numbers without the use of poison, and while maintaining this area for ferrets. Let's find a better compromise with the cattle industry.
