Comments: To Whom It May Concern:

I urge you not to move forward with plans to build a road in order to complete these tasks. The area proposed for the road is a sensitive area due to its early successional state that should be preserved to protected from invasion and an unnatural colonization. Further, the area is a landmark for scientific study of the colonization of lifeless Earth, providing a rare opportunity for important research than may be helpful particularly given the planet's trajectory under future possible global change scenarios. Thank you for your time.
