Title: Dr.
Comments: To Whom It May Concern.

At a time when we are undeniably experiencing the consequences of climate change, when our existence is threatened by the demise of pollinators, and when extreme weather events in every corner of the world ring alarm bells loud and clear, we must come to the realization that our current way of life is no longer sustainable, both environmentally and economically speaking.

Hence I must object to a project, that does not consider the well-being of future generations, that will damage the Chattahoochee National Forest, and at a time when we should restore and expand instead of tear down or reduce our natural resources.

There has to be a time when we say no to special interest groups, who have only their short-term profits in mind, and couldn't care less about the long-term consequences of their actions.

There has to be a time when we realize that the amazing natural resources we have and which set us apart from every nation on our planet, are threatened by perhaps the most lethal weapons of our time: greed and selfishness.

God asks us to be good stewards of his creation. This is poor stewardship to say the least.

Ecologists tell us that our actions and way of life are no longer sustainable for our planet.

Whether you are a scientist or a Christian, you must - we must - object to the Foothills Landscape Project.

Sincerely, Dr. Michael G. Noll.
