Comments: Well I'm almost 62 and have been wondering (for 25 years now) when someone would grow a brain and push back against the tree huggers... who you would think would also be in favor of supporting healthy wildlife. But then the words fishing and hunting come into play as a means to regulate those resources and that's when the tree huggers go crazy.

The National Forest is a RESOURCE" for ALL people. Plants and animals grow and change NATURALLY and should never be over protected or over regulated, just well managed.

This proposal has my full support and I only hope it actually happens!
