Comments: In 1971 the Federal government took steps to protect the Chattooga watershed as a Wild and Scenic river, preserving its natural beauty and pureness from development and containment. These proposed actions fly in the face of these well thought out interventions and seem almost unthinkable. These rivers and forests belong to the people, and the actions upon which must be guarded carefully. The proposed project plans seem 180 degrees apart from all previous intentions of preservation of the Chattooga watershed and should be abandoned without more planning, foresight and most importantly public input.
