Comments: I disagree with the Foothills Project's forestry practices, which are based on treatments to produce crop trees at the expense of native biological diversity. Much of the project proposes to convert diverse, native broad leaf forest-that has multiple layers of dominant and co-dominant trees, shrubs, herbacious Appalachian understory and ground cover-to a forest of even-age crop trees dominated by just a few commercial tree species.

Further, I am concerned by use of pesticides and herbicides that could be toxic to the surrounding area and wildlife, not to mention the disruption of a wildlife habitat. I am concerned about burning within this area and disagree with the destruction of this natural area.
