Comments: My biggest concern is one of process and here's why: In the past, the Forest Service has decided to dropan average of 243 acres of timber harvest from each project in order to avoid harms identified by thepublic to wildlife, soil, water, rare species, roadless areas, recreational opportunities, and old-growth.Those improvements would not have happened without public knowledge, involvement, and scrutiny.But with the Foothills project that public involvement will be sidelined. The public's tools for oversightof the government, the NEPA process, will be completed and no longer in place, right as the ForestService is making decisions about exactly where their management projects will occur. Please put theNEPA process back into the Foothills plan. Then commit to real collaboration with the public aboutsite-specific management decisions.
