Comments: This sounds like a huge project with very little time for public comment. Our forests are vital especially in this time of climate change. Any changes should be made very thoughtfully and with full disclosure to the public as these are our lands. I have spent many years exploring, hiking, camping, and paddling the rivers in this area. I urge you to take more time to involve the public and hear our concerns and let us be involved in how our forests are logged, changed by road building or by clearing or by burning.
