Comments: I think one of the most important items that the National Forests and all National Lands has to consider is the type of flora and fauna permitted on our lands. As I hike on all our trails, I constantly meet, not natives but invasives. In the latter category, I include "cattle". all of which were introduced by the European settlers. Since they were not indigenous to our land, they fall under the title of invasive species. It distresses me that we spend funds to kill wolves (one of our natural native species) in order to protect cattle (an invasive species). Please, let's get it right.
