Comments: For such a large project area w such potential there doesn't seem to be much to address the growing recreational need. W the over-use and crowding on so many of the trails in the area this would be a great area to give people more options. I am a mountain Biker who like so many am always looking for big single track loops w nice scenery and just enough challenge. All of the trails In the packsaddle area are so used that they are fun descending but none of them are ride-able going up. If there was just one trail coming up the North side of Packsaddle Mt it could open up half a dozen options for connectivity w other trails. This trail would Definitely need to be of reasonable grade for sustainability. With all of the moto options I could see this as being non-motorized but w all the moto use in the area that may be unreasonable.
