Comments: I fully support efforts to create a multi-use trail from Redstone to McClure pass. I support allowing the utilization of historic routes including wagon roads, railroad grades, old and USF's system trails, social trails, and existing primitive roads to make for a wonderful trail. I specifically like this alignment because it allows the user to traverse areas in the same corridor that Native Americans and early settlers used. I see a day in the future that this trail could also become an interpretive trail combining A love of history and recreational pursuit into one excellent experience (without great impacts on untouched lands). Thank you for your consideration!
