Comments: These continued assaults on historic herds of wild horses is not ok w the many of public people who fund your budget and salaries. Wilds help control grass areas in the forest, assisting in keeping weeds trampled down and keeping pitential fire risks of overgrowth, at bay. Are you going to go in and mow now? Your forests will burn brightly when lightening strikes bc you are failing at "management." Do any of you Actually have a degree in environmental sciences? Not only is this about forest care, these grounds are federally protected and that means YOU are in charge of protecting them, all soecies within. What you are doing will bottleneck the gene pool and ensure genetic defects and eventual extinction. This is NOT OK! Stop the assault on the wilds, engage alternative resources that are long term beneficial to the eart and to humanity. This is NOT IT.
