Comments: I feel that Colorado is being taken over by non natives who have a completely different view of the state. Original Coloradoans for the most part appreciated nature and understood how important it was to not stress out our wildlife in their winter or summer habitat. Now all we hear is trails, trails, trails. Enough already. Dial it down and let our 9,000 elk recuperate and reach the optimum number of 20,000 before we infiltrate their fragmented habitats. No to more trails.
