Comments: I first would like to tell you I have been a horse lover for most of my life, ever since my sister got her first pony. Now she is a proud owner of a BLM throw-away mare. The sad part of this story is a very vivid image in my brain of a helicopter chasing her down, to be thrown into a pen, losing her foal in the devastating round up. I know she mourned the loss of her foal and more so her freedom. What a cruel (now a felony), horrible, round up of God's majestic Heber horses. No matter where you round them, up from it is a cruel and unusual, inhumane way to pander to ranchers.
