Comments: I am absolutely against the current agenda of the Forest Service to wipe out wild horse populations so stinking ranchers can claim the land for their animals. The horses are historic and should be allowed to continue and fostered, not limited in any way unless starving to death, which none that I know of are having that type of problem. People from all over the world come to see our wild herds, know them really quite intimately. What a travesty that the dept is in the hands of greedy selfish ranchers who should not be usurping the national forests for their benefit! I find this very disgusting and it certainly is turning me against ranchers!
