Comments: This herd should not be reduced any where near the proposal. They also should not be restricted to that small an area when there is so much more land available. These wild horses helped build this country and deserve to be protected. Also, if there is any herd reduction it needs to be managed by people familiar with the herd and it's composition so that families aren't separated and biodiversity is maintained. The American people revere these animals and want them protected not removed.
