

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 2/23/2020 5:00:45 PM

First name: Janelle

Last name: Earnshaw

Organization:

Title:

Comments: There are sustainable herds and non-sustainable herd sizes. The degree to which you want to reduce the size of the herd is completely a death sentence for the population.

Yes, the intricacies of proper balance and management of all land, species and of course the usual winners, the cattle ranchers, is almost unfathomable.

However, this is a complete overkill and cannot even imagine why eradication of SO MANY is even necessary! Do the horses and/or burros lose yet another battle at the hands of the US Forest Service or BLM?