Comments: I have been reading through this new order that is being put into effect.

I do not think that it goes far enough for some other areas that are being affected also. I live in Woodside Ranch neighborhood, in Bend. My residence is just north of China Hat Rd (18 Road). The impact to this area has been tremendous and there seems to be no end to the number of people moving out there to live. I will not go into the reasons that people are using this area, but I think we can agree that the housing and economics of Central Oregon has a lot to do with it.

I think that you (the USFS) should also look at enforcement and camping/fire regulations for this area that is closer to the city also. The maps that you rolled out show the west side of Bend, Sunriver, and Sisters areas, but appear to make no effort to address this area SE of Bend.

I am worried all summer long about the danger of someone touching off a fire out on the SE side of Bend and my neighborhood ceasing to exist because of that careless act and the what seems to be the lack of concern on the part of the USFS to curb the number of people camping and living in the woods in that area.
