Comments: Horses just like elk, deer, bear or any other critter we have on our public land should be managed to protect the land and other animals. These are not "wild" horses. People that want to just leave the horses alone have no idea of what happens when the horses deplete their habitat. Do some research on the Kaibab to see what happened to the deer population in the early 1900's. Or the over population of the Bison at the Grand canyon now where we are not allowed to manage the population.
