Comments: Please protect our wild horses! They mean so much to Americans. They are a living symbol of our wild America. They inspire us to remember who we are and where we came from. They've helped us from our very beginning and all through our history. They deserve to be protected and to remain wild and free. I truly do love a good steak! But the ranchers have alternative options for raising their cattle. It costs more to rent to the ranchers than it does to take care of our wild horses. And it would costs considerably less if the horses weren't being warehoused instead of being allowed to remain free.
