Comments: The American wild horses have earned a piece of this planet. Where would civilized America be today without the contribution of the HORSE? They have been a part of every facet of the early progress of this country. Yesteryear's horse paid the price for the horses of today to live safe and unmolested on that piece of the planet. Gelding the males should be enough to control the population. I'm sick to death of signing endless petitions to protect one herd or another. Just leave them the HELL alone!
