Comments: Stop free ranging cattle every where, they've done so much damage to property and they don't have to replace it, and you won't have to worry about half the wildlife population using too much water or food then to have to kill them or relocate them. Ranchers don't replant anything to feed their livestock, that's the ones ruining it. They want to free range cattle, make them drill a water well in those areas, make them re seed grasses and food for future use.
