Comments: To Whom This May Concern.....I have no revisions to the already established plan other than supporting the "adoption" clause. I did not read any regulations on the adoption criteria though. If this could be identified clearly so others may be able to accurately and morally consider the possible adoption process ensuing in the survival and freedom of this live being. As a previous horse owner, you should also recognize my position on preservation vs. destruction along with the benefits of coexisting with life. Horses can add a remarkable experience to those who sincerely appreciate them, I know. Consider the dilemma with the polar bears of Alaska, of where I came from. They are definitely giving much thought and resources to figuring that one out!! I say adoption for which I will "take two"!! PLEASE??!! Thank you and please keep me posted? I'm serious on 2.
