Comments: My concern is not the wild horses and their impact on the land. My concern is the destruction caused by cattle. This is what this is all about. The ranchers wanting their cattle to graze on our public lands..for pennies, and the wild horses are once again paying the price. Who makes the rules anyway? The forest service or cattle ranchers? The public knows the answer to that question. We don't have a wild horse problem..we have a greed and corruption problem with with the mismanagement of our public lands. This is so transparent.
