Comments: I know people refer to these horses as feral or escapees from the fire but it really doesn't matter where they came from. They are happy and free. These horses and others like them are what helped to build the West. They are a part of our western heritage and they should be left alone. Please consider other alternatives than what you are proposing. None of these animals deserve to be rounded up and sold to kill buyers for slaughter. I ask again, please consider other alternatives.
