Comments: I have been to a few of the open house forums: Of importance to me include increasing the wilderness areas. Otherwise, roads that are sustainable and still accessible should be made available so more people would have access to this beautiful forest. Meanwhile ensuring riparian area protection, healthy water resources, and limits or controls of cattle to minimize the destruction of native plants. I have not seen firearm users respecting the land as a particular goal, so I do recommend they are allowed to use these firearms only in designated areas with strong encouragement to clean up after themselves. And emphasis on carrying out what they discharge when hunting.
