Comments: There is simply NO reason to remove these horses from their location. Wild horses have every right to the very same protection as endangered species in this country. BLM continue to round up and place these horses in corrals until adopted. These wild horses can and have coexisted with cattle and other species without interference and will populate based on environmental conditions. Let predators control the herds as they have for years. They deserve Federal protection and to live as American icons. Governmental interference should not be allowed and taxpayers do not need to continue to pay for herd removal and birth control, let nature take control of that. Every species that has had government interference has eventually become a species that becomes endangered.

This is reckless and irresponsible behavior based on lobbyists and needs to stop.
