A point was brought up by the anchor newswomen about why cattle have access to the wild horse designated areas but not the reverse. Good question, bad answer.

Americans have an emotional connection with wild horses. We signed in protections for them. We haven't released the governments obligation to protect these animals.

The Government has sided on cattle ranchers who have not the benefit of protection laws such as the horses do. Cattle, sheep or other meat herded elements do not have the rights that the voted in wild horses protections give to these horses.

Americans do not want wild horses to be compromised for the sake of cattle grazing. Government listen: buck up. This is a wrong move by you. Change it.
