Comments: TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

In past administrations dating back to Theodore Roosevelt, and even further, there was a transparent reverence and respect for our country's wilderness lands and their wildlife. Sadly, today that level of respect is slowly vanishing... Replaced by not so transparent lobbying and corporate interests. Interests that threaten to diminish the numbers and diversity of species that equally deserve their place in our American heritage and ongoing history. Years from now our society and it's leaders will not be judged on how much revenue they secured for a region, but rather on how many natural resources and native inhabitants were preserved. The choice is easier than you may believe... Short term profits versus long term rewards. The choice is yours. Think wisely and with a heart full of good will towards all.
