Comments: Please reconsider with compassion the plight of these horses. They may seem like useless creatures that consume land and grass, that farmers cattle could use, but if you look closer, youll see these are magnificent creatures that selflessly served mankind for thousands of years, and still do.

Besides this, Farmers should realize that intelligent people are becoming vegetarians and cattle and all ranches will so be out of business due to the pollution of air, water, land that cattle, sheep, pigs, goats etc. do.

Public land is paid for by tax payers, and its meant for wildlife, not for extra range space for farmers to pollute. I am a US Veteran, and I and my family would like freedom for these magnificent horses to thrive. Thank you
