Comments: Please protect the wild horses of the Salt River band in the Tonto National Forest. They represent our national heritage of the west and western history to citizens of the whole nation. The bloodlines of our wild horses are irreplaceable once lost. They are followed in media across the country and draw tourists, students, photographers, and wild horse lovers from all walks of life.

They are able to maintain their part in the natural ecosystem.

PZP is a humane and rational method of herd management.

Please consider that they are one of the unique aspects of this park that you have to offer to the rest of the country and the tourists of other countries as well.
