Comments: do not use any PZP, GonaCon & other sterilization drugs or any mare ovariectomies & stallion castrations in your HWHT plan! Neither should the unnatural skewing of sex ratios be employed! These disrupt normal wild horse behavior, thwart their ability to survive in the long term, affect their social integrity, causing stress & dissension among wild horses, between stallions & also between mares & stallions & even between mares, All these unnatural manipulations are cruel & contrary to the true intent of the WFHBA. They are tantamount to domesticating them. They take away the natural vitality & wellfunctioning of the horses & should not be approved. Reserve Design is the correct way to achieve population stabilization &, at the same time, true genetic viability & the harmonious adaptation to the ecosystem by these very worthy horses. instead incorporate the guidance of wild horse ecologists for your management plan
