Comments: The Wild Free-Roaming Horses and Burros Act was signed into law by President Richard M. Nixon on December 18, 1971. According to the law the boundaries of the Heber Wild Horse Territory were to include all areas where free-roaming horses were found in 1971. The boundaries were also to include migratory patterns and the habitat needs of the wild horses. We know those boundary requirements were not included in the Heber Wild Horse Territory.

Please provide to the public the information used to determine how and why the Heber Wild Horse Territory was set up the way it was. I would like the forest service to produce any and all scientific studies and surveys and other assessments that were used in how they determined the boundaries of the HWHT.

It should be required that the Forest Service do a thorough Environmental Analysis of the forest that includes all wild species and domestic cattle.

As a citizen and tax payer of Arizona and someone who believes that horses who helped Arizona become settled deserve better treatment and care. I OBJECT to the fact that the forest supervisor will be the only person to decide the fate of the Heber wild horses and their territory. One person should NEVER have complete power and authority over what happens to the Heber wild horse herd and their habitat.
