Comments: "The Wild Free-Roaming Horses and Burros Act was signed into law by President Richard M. Nixon on December 18, 1971. According to the law the boundaries of the Heber Wild Horse Territory were to include all areas where free-roaming horses were found in 1971. The boundaries were also to include migratory patterns and the habitat needs of the wild horses". It is to my knowledge now that those boundary requirements were not included in the Heber Wild Horse Territory. We. Need to honor the act that was already put in place.

Additionally, the "Forest Service needs to provide the information they used to determine how and why the Heber Wild Horse Territory was set up the way it was. Furthermore, the Forest Service should provide any and all scientific studies and surveys and other assessments that were used in how they determined the boundaries of the HWHT". Why are we having to ask this? Again, we need to honor the original agreement and provide why it came to be in the first place

One thing that is appalling is the proposal of the forest supervisor being the only person to decide the date of the wild horses and their territory. This is not okay. One person should not be given complete authority over the fate of these horses.

More than just humans live here, let's start acting like it!
