Comments: While I appreciate the attention devoted to the environmental impacts of fracking, versus the potential income for the Forest Service, I will be interested to see the revised analysis as required by the U.S. Circuit Court ruling.

Thanks for including the references to: pollinator projects. Regarding using citizen-based tools (to report invasive species), I'd encourage involving citizens in other projects (migrating bird observations, wild flower identification).

Glad to hear of decreased motorized trail use, and on another topic, glad to hear the Service is encouraging renewable energy projects.
